Experience: Jennifer boasts an impressive 20 years in the business of helping clients to reach their financing goals whether they need assistance to procure that special little corner of the planet on which to set up an amazing Carbon-Vudu masterpiece, or are exploring re-finance options to rehabilitate an existing structure. Ethical, honest, and revoltingly great at what she does, Jennifer is the type of person who give you the shirt off her back. But only because she's young and needs the money. A guru in her own rights, Jennifer is nonetheless humble and unassuming and she speaks slowly using small words so that the rest of the staff can follow along without getting confused. If Carbon-vudu can change the way you live, Jennifer can help make sure that doesn't include selling your children off for science experiments to pay your mortgage (unless you want to... we don't judge).
